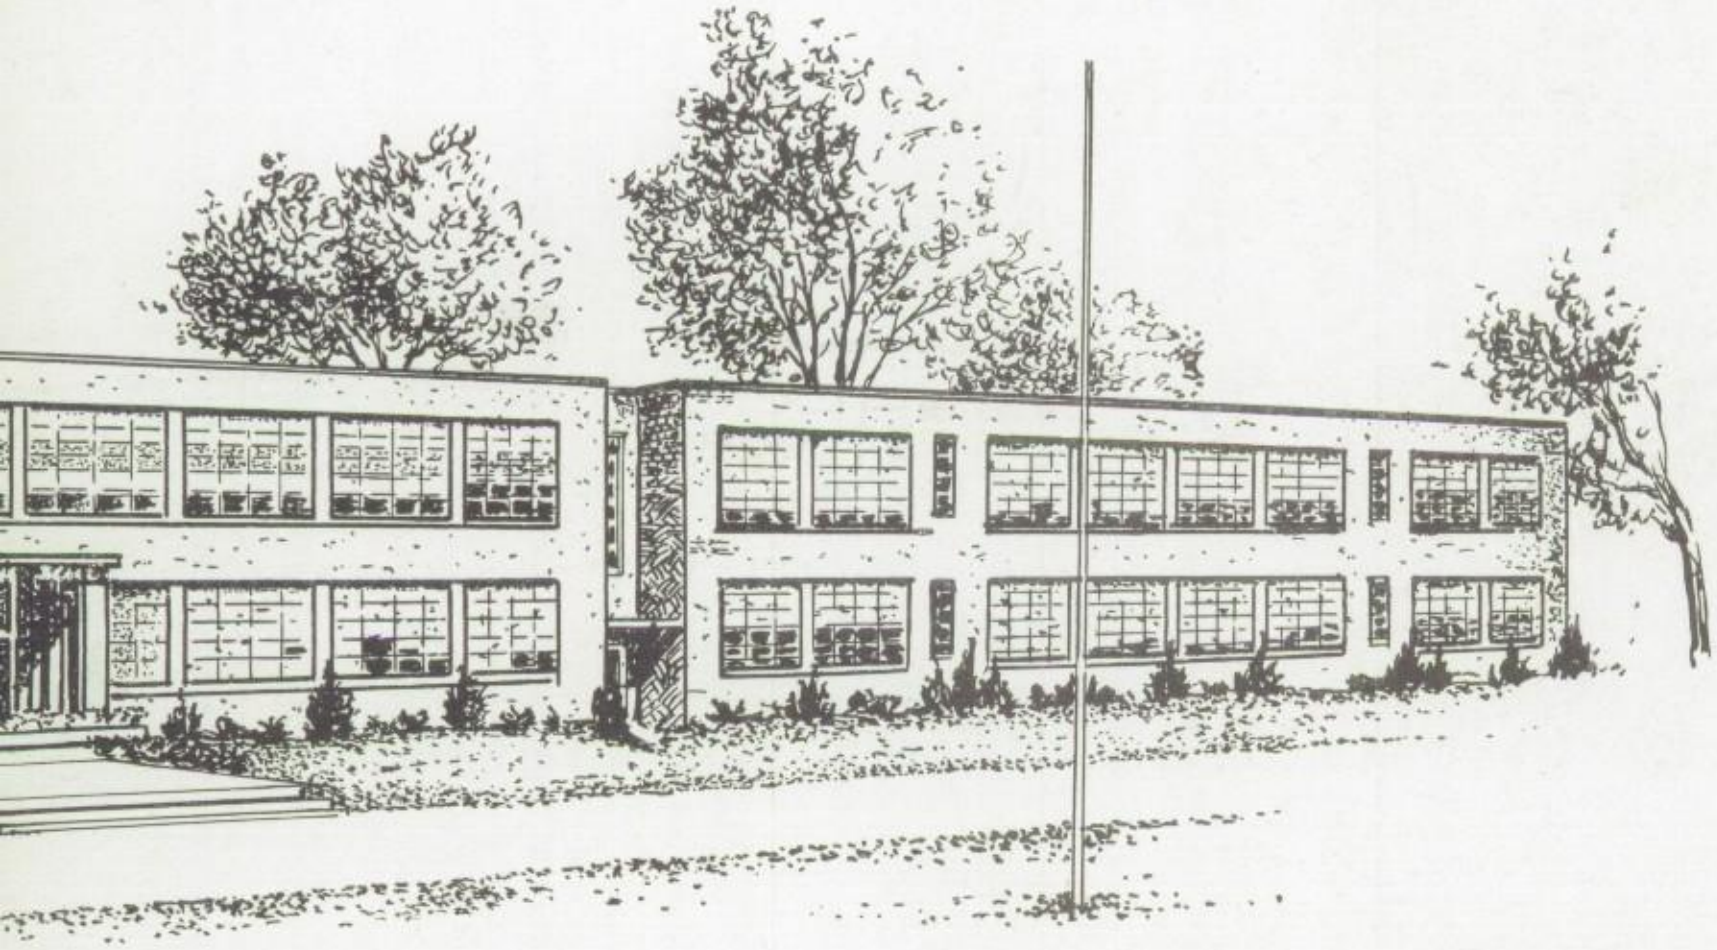
GLENCLIFF HIGH SCHOOL

NASHVILLE TENNESSEE

RECIPIENTS

OF A CLASSIC TRADITION . . . .

Ringing through the toll of passing years
Comes the voice of the sages and philosophers from the shores of the Sunny Agean.
They saw the sun, the sea, the earth; they saw themselves.
They became scientists, warriors, poets, and democrats.
They built citadels and well-governed societies.
But remains there today scant trace of their magnificent splendor.
O noble men of ancient birth, may your souls in Elysian Fields another eon rest:
For we send a new Ulysses across the Acaron with the news
That your work and wisdom is not lost;
It lives on in us!



Dedication

We proudly dedicate the 1962 ROUND-UP to our principal, Mr. B. H. Thompson.

Mr. Tom, as he is respectfully known, has worked untiringly during the past five years, setting lofty standards of education and conduct for our school. He has proven himself an efficient administrator and able principal.

To the man who has dedicated himself to us and our welfare, we dedicate this book, which he made it possible for us to produce.

Wisdom

The wisest of them all was Socrates, who held that all good lay in wisdom. Accordingly, wisdom is our highest aim. All other motives lose their significance in the wake of this quest. We would get wisdom first; then other attributes will come in their proper order. We seek wisdom to see ourselves and our world realistically. Wisdom, we crown thee king of the virtues.

Arts

Builders of great cities and temples we would become. Nor would we neglect our own homes and the trades. Skilled in the crafts, we visualize great columns of mathematical proportion rising on the horizon. The goal is ours for we have mastered the rudiments. We will make the world more beautiful for our having been in it. Deserts will become luscious plains, and cities will gleam of marble when we come into our own.

Static electricity causes hair to stand on end

Science

From the sunny shores of Greece came the first scientific knowledge and mathematical discovery. As we rediscover the truths they knew, we take up the standard and march forth into a world of scientific challenge. We are well armed, for we have been taught to see things in proper relationships and to seek methodical solutions. Confident in our skill, we will open treasure chests of mystery and unfurl their contents before the world.

The fathers of the Olympic games, our ancient m o d e l s, would be proud of our accomplishments in the sports arenas. Superior in skill and daring our teams have been celebrated in story and song. Our fame is far-reaching, and highly admired are our athletes. Greatly to be desired is physical prowress and Spartan demeanor. We believe that a game played with half a heart is never won.

Teaching

Following the examples of such teachers as Plato and Aristotle, our teachers endeavor to instill in us knowledge of ancient poets and philosophers. A tribute to the teaching arts we bring. An ode we chant to those who would set our feet in the paths that will lead to ultimate success. They help us to realize the true worth that is in ourselves. May our lives be a credit to their efforts.

Festive Events

As the Athenians gathered for the annual feasts of Dionysus, so we clamber to festive events and celebrations. Spirits soar to an enthusiastic pitch, and the routine of the classroom is cast into oblivion. Our honors and heroes we commemorate and celebrate. Well-ordered individuals we become as pleasure-seeking takes its place in our lives.

A Message from Our Principal

This year's senior graduation also marks Glencliff High School's graduation into the rank of a fully accredited high school. Our recent acceptance into the Southern Association of Secondary Schools climaxed five years of steady growth and accomplishment. We can be justly proud of our achievements.

Our enrollment has grown from 410 to 1,432 in the past five years; while our staff has increased from 13 to 52. Increased physical facilities include 22 new classrooms, a girls' gymnasium, a music room, an enlarged cafeteria, and a 4,000 seating capacity football stadium. The outlook for the future is an even greater increase in enrollment and additional school plant expansion.

As we have grown in size and facilities, activities and organizations have been instituted. Glencliff students have gained recognition for themselves and their school in both the athletic and academic fields. To Nashvillians, Glencliff is no longer the name of an estate on the south side of town, but it is the name of one of the leading high schools in the area.

Our seniors have been the vanguard. They should take pride in their role in establishing procedures in our school that will become tradition. Underclassmen will receive that heritage, but the job is not complete; for we must not be satisfied with our past accomplishments. We must make the watchword for the future "continued growth." Those who will return to Glencliff next year should resolve to work toward the future improvement of their school; while it is sincerely hoped that all, including graduating seniors, will continue their own personal, intellectual, and spiritual growth.

Six years ago the spot upon which the sprawling structure of Glencliff High School stands was a vacant lot. One day the bulldozers moved in, followed shortly by loads of construction materials and work crews. By September 11, 1957, the building was complete and a horde of eager seventh and eighth graders arrived on the scene. Today those eighth graders are candidates for graduation. The school has grown in size and scope; activities have been engaged in; and honors have been won. The seniors, who have spearheaded the growth of this school, are about to go forth and take their places in the world.

After five years Glencliff High School has become a full-fledged high school with a glorious past history. Our school has not only excelled in extra-curricular activities, but has shown notable academic skill.

In its first year, basketball teams were organized, and Bubba Randolph and Linda Hayes were elected the first king and queen.

The second year of Glencliff's existence saw the first high school class enrolled and the first departmentalization of subject matter. This year we also witnessed the beginning of a brilliant football team and plans for Glencliff's Colt Stadium. On the academic side, Becky Hampton took second place in Vanderbilt's math contest.

The year 1959-60 was another year of "firsts." The first Forensic club was formed. Plans were made for the first Beta Club. The Latin Club was organized with Robert Worthington as president. Our first Student Council was established, and the student body elected Forrest Russell, president; Roy Helton, boys' vice-president; Pat Vance, girls' vice-president; and Linda Hayes, secretary-treasurer. This year also saw the beginning of the guidance program at Glencliff. While in the sports column, Glencliff played its first year of classified football, climaxing it with a victory over Waynesboro in the Crockett Bowl. Wayne Bush became the State's leading scorer with 164 points.

1960-61 was another year of further development. The football team was heralded far and wide as they experienced another stellar year and received a bid to the Butter Bowl. Wayne Bush captured all available titles and brought about a legend at Glencliff High School. The first class officers were elected with Robert Worthington as president, Tommy Beckham as vice-president, and Shirley Smith, secretary. The first yearbook was published with Mary Ellen Lee as editor, and a newspaper staff was organized with Sandra Crawford as head of this group. Our first track team proved the versatility of the Colts as it enjoyed an admirable season.

The present year terminates our high school career and adds many achievements to our proud list. The Student Council this year is led by Sandra Crawford, president; Frank Sparkman, boys' vice-president; Pat Vance, girls' vice-president; and Mary Ellen Lee, secretary-treasurer. New heights were reached as the Colts had another excellent season, highlighted by the Rebel Bowl and the Varsity Football Dance. Rearrangement of the NIL raised the Glencliff Colts to Class AAAA. Jerry Broadbent, William Tines, Tommy Beckham, Bubba Randolph, and Robert Verble received college scholarships for their accomplishments on the gridiron.

Enrollment increased placing us second in the county; a new modern language laboratory was installed; and Glencliff was accepted to membership in the Southern Association of Secondary Schools. Elected to Senior Class offices were Robert Worthington, president; Tommy Giles, vice-president; and Olivia Waller, secretary. The Forensic Club continued its success by gaining membership in the National Forensic League. This club's presentation of a one-act play entitled "Sandbox" earned acting awards for Bobbie Cline and Becky Hampton.

Academic honors include Sandra Crawford's being runner-up in the Nashville Sertoma Essay Contest, and the appearance of Jimmy Perry, Becky Hampton, and Roy Helton with Junior David Robison on WSIX-TV's "Classroom Quizbusters." At our annual Valentine Dance, Shirley Smith was crowned "Queen of Hearts" and represented Glencliff in the "Miss Nashville High School" contest.

This Senior year is destined to be the most spectacular of Glencliff's history. At press time the full story has not been told nor all the honors and achievements claimed. Not until graduation will the final period be placed on the history of the 1962 graduating class of Glencliff High School.

A MODERN ODYSSEY

The year is 1982. Vast changes in this world have occurred since the year we walked up to receive our diplomas. The face of the world itself has been altered, in a struggle for nuclear power. The United States are a thing of the past. A huge lake, formed by an atomic explosion, now stands in the area once occupied by Indiana, Ohio, and parts of Illinois, Missouri, and Kentucky. Because communication became impossible following the disaster, it was decided that the states should exist as separate kingdoms, each with its own ruler.

Prior to the great atomic explosion there was a great induction into military service. Afterwards, the state rulers became those of high military rank. They were named kings. The king of Tennessee was Robert Worthington, who came to be known as "the wise one." King Buddy Lawson ruled in Kentucky; King Jimmy Smith of Missouri was kindly referred to as "the great"; and King Robert Verble, with Frank Sparkman as foreign minister, ably led the people of West Virginia, and Betty Cross of the Women's Army Corps reigned in Arkansas and was called "Good Queen Betty" by her loyal subjects. From the ashes of what had been the great city of Chicago rose a mighty warring kingdom ruled by Forrest Russell who preferred the title "Commodore." This great walled city kingdom under Commodore Russell was greatly feared throughout the known world.

In the kingdom of Texas, ruled over by Ted Bartley, in an attempt to recivilize the ranchers, there was held a beauty pageant. It was a magnificent affair, which featured noted entertainers. Among those performing at the festivities was a famous women's quartet composed of Sue Balduf, Elva Booth, Patsy Ewing, and Judy Miles. Acrobatist Pat Vance, and Comedian Billy McCord also performed. At last the three finalists in the contest were announced as Sandra Robinson, Mary Carson, and Patsy Bidwell. Judges Roy Helton and Joe McWhorter, unable to agree on a winner, called in handsome Bubba Randolph who was a great favorite of Commodore Russell of Chicago and was representing him at the affair. Each of the finalists promised a reward if selected. Chosen was Miss Carson, who promised the judge the hand of the world's most beautiful woman.

Everyone knew that the most beautiful woman in the world was Queen Linda McGowan of Michigan, wife of King Tommy Beckham. Nonetheless, Bubba sailed straightway to Detroit and promptly stole Queen Linda, carrying her off to Chicago. King Tommy, in a great fury, went about the various kingdoms enlisting the support of the kings. All willingly went with their forces except King Robert Worthington of Tennessee. He was reluctant to join the venture since the queen, the former Sandra Crawford, was much opposed to the mission. However, he went anyway, taking seven ships commanded by Billy Dawson, Jimmy Shields, Richard Geisecke, Roger Moore, Randall Norris, Joe Sarsfield, and Larry Chilton.

The mighty armada sailed toward the walled city of Chicago. There they laid anchor and came ashore, camping on Lakeshore Park, a wide plain before the city. The seige lasted many months and many skirmishes took place with neither side gaining a clear-cut victory. Highlighting the battle was the personal conflict between the mighty Rusty Sheehan of Chicago and the bold and daring warrior Billy Fryer of Antioch, Tennessee. Binky Brindley, Glenn Talbert, and Bobby Sargent were commemorated for their valor. Wives looked on from the city walls and bewailed the sufferings of their husbands. Among these were Olivia Waller, Pat Harris, Claudia Waggoner, Sara Datillo, and Jo Ann Ellis. Linda Hayes sent word that she would have loved to have been there but that she was still grading term papers. Brilliant newspaper accounts of the fighting were written by Jimmy Perry, editor of the Chicago Times, with Pulitzer Prize winning foreign correspondent Mary Ellen Lee and her assistant, Judy Rader, sending back vivid accounts of interviews with the leaders. Tending the sick and wounded were Dr. Paul Burnett and his staff of fine nurses Nellie Davidson, Wilmoth Deal, and Barbara Duke.

Tiring of battle, a noted engineer, Wayne Justice came up with a plan to construct a mighty wooden Colt with which to delude the Chicagoans. The supporters of King Robert worked day and night. Sneaking their bravest warriors under the command of Bob Venable and George Goodfred in the wooden Colt, they withdrew their ships a short way from shore. Taken in by the scheme, the Chicagoans pulled the wooden Colt to within the walled city. Even the famous spy, Sue Burkhart was fooled.

A wild celebration took place that night in Chicago. Billie Jo Smiley, editor of a sophistocated ladies' magazine, was seen being swung on a garland around the Colt's neck by Gary Crews, local billard parlor magnate. Glenda Garrett and James Carpenter were seen drinking wine from the same goatskin, while daredevil racer Eddie Settle was seen dragging artist Pat Fagan through the streets by the hair. Society matrons Sherry McDonald and Judy Pride were rushing after them shouting with glee. Models Peggy Lilly, Lynn Lewis, and Lora Jo Martin watched literary critic Judy Clinard struggling to climb astride the Colt.

When the revelry had run its course, the warriors emerged from the Colt and laid ruin to the city. Among the ruins was the home of Ginger Barnes, who made headlines two years before as the first woman on the moon. There was a note of tragedy to the story, however. The booster rocket containing Kitty Muse got off course and is still reported orbiting the earth.

The battle won, the forces from the South set sail for home. Meterologist Jerry Ethridge miscalculated on the weather, and King Robert of Tennessee ran into fierce winds, which blew his fleet to far-flung places and perilous experiences. After three or four days the ships ran aground.

On the mainland, they discovered a cave and were astounded to find John Brandon, who had fled during the atomic explosion to seek shelter and never returned. He told them of a one-eyed monster which had held him captive there. They went to its cave and were captured. The great leader, however, devised a plan to save them. They managed to get their captor drunk during the night and disable him by gouging his only eye out. When dawn came, they escaped the cave when the monster drove his sheep out to pasture.

They next came to the island of the lotus eaters, where they were entertained a month by George Margrave who lived there in great luxury feasting on lotus with Linda Wainscott, Joyce Kenning, Linda Herring, Sharon Sturgeon, Betty Fagan, and Sandra Rains. When King Robert and his men decided to leave, George presented the king with a secret pellet which he said would propel the ship homeward. It only blew up a squall and drove them to another island.

Shortly after they arrived there, Bobby Jennette returned to the ship with news that all his men were turned into pigs. He led them to the enchantress, who was responsible for this terrible act. She was Phyllis Whitt, who decided to cast a spell on King Robert because he was the only one who could resist her. She recalled the spell after Ann George, a competing sorceress, cast another spell on some of the men. Discouraged King Robert and his men left the island.

After he had been upon the sea for several days, he came closer to another island and was caught in a great turmoil. After several desperate attempts he managed to get to shore. The ruler of this island was Richard Sinner, who was then hosting actress Becky Hampton, who with secretaries Kay Lane, Sandra Higgin, Pat Hartley, Dean Wilkes, and Pat Padgett had driven down the river for an afternoon of swimming. There they found King Robert and arranged for him to come up to the castle for food and clothing. The king and his wife, formerly Joyce Presley, fed him and gave him a new suit of clothes. At dinner he was surprised to find that Bill Latta, famous Olympic runner, Nan Pitts, Wilma Graves, and Patsy Wallace, on leave from the Tennessee Women's Air Force, were also seated at the table.

Taking leave of King Richard's island, King Robert had to meet yet another peril. He must pass by the isle of the sirens. Blindfolding his men, he was able to make safe passage by the island on which lived sirens, Bobbie Cline, Alice Calvert, Sherry Hood, and Dona Piper, who tried to lure him to their rocky shore.

Arriving within sight of his native kingdom, King Robert experienced another storm. The ship was sunk and he had to swim the last leg of his journey home. Having been gone many years, the king was recognized only by his parakeet and personal aide, Andy Tamburo. Much to his dismay he discovered great revelry in the banquet hall of his castle. Believing King Robert to be dead, many suitors had come seeking the hand of Queen Sandra. She had been able to withold her hand but had been able to do nothing about the advances of such prominent local citizens as Ronnie Bonee, real estate dealer, Michael Dennis, corporation president, David Simpson, drug merchant, and Jimmy Haley, the high school coach.

When King Robert entered the room, those gathered there, assuming that he was some vagabond, ignored him and proceeded with the evening's entertainment which featured traveling minstrel Tommy Giles and boxing between Larry Crutchfield and Billy Cooper. Kicking their heels to the "Can Can" were dancing girls Paulette Gower, Jane Clarke, Sandra Lewis, Doylene Boucher, and Pat Cagle. Also there with a weight lifting act was Jerry Broadbent.

Greatly angered, King Robert seized his bow from the wall and drove the suitors and their company from the hall. He was subsequently reunited with the queen, and settled down to a peaceful existence for the rest of his days.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Seated: Bobbie Cline, Mary Ellen Lee, Sue Balduf. Standing: Becky Hampton, Linda McGowan, Tommy Beckham, Wayne Justice.

ROUND UP STAFF

The 1961-62 ROUND-UP staff, organized last year, has succeeded in publishing the second consecutive Glencliff High School yearbook. The staff has gained from experience the abilities necessary for the publication of this years' larger and more comprehensive annual.

Featuring the first graduating class of Glencliff High School, the ROUND-UP has the purpose of conveying a pictorial presentation of both the curricular and extracurricular activities of the school and school life.

BUSINESS STAFF

Seated: Chuck Brewer, Jo Ann Ellis, Forrest Russell, Sherry Hood. Standing: Linda Hayes, Judy Rader, Linda Jennette, Patsy Ewing, Sara Dattilo, Earl Briley.

BETA CLUB

Glencliff's first Beta Club was organized November 29, 1960. At that time 10 Juniors were initiated, becoming Charter Members of the Glencliff Chapter. This year 10 additional members were added.

Activities have included listing honor roll students and being in charge of the concession stands at class tournaments. The organization has also bought books for the library, and several members have attended the state conventions the last two years.

Membership in the club is based on scholarship, leadership, achievement, and honor.

The Glencliff Forensic Club was organized in 1958 for the purpose of promoting competittion in both public speaking and debating. For the past four years, members of the club have participated in one-act plays, debates, county meets, city meets, discussion groups, and N.F.L. Congresses.

This year the Forensic Club was admitted into the National Forensic League on the basis of having accumulated the required 1500 points, gained in forensic events in competition with other schools in the county. The Forensic Club has been ably led by Mr. James G. Currey, with the assistance of Mrs. Louise Pierce.

The newly organized Glencliff Junior Civitan Club has already taken a leading part in school activities. The first project of the club, which was organized in December, was collecting toys for distribution to needy children at Christmas. The club has also helped to sell fruitcakes for the Band Boosters Club and is working toward erecting a permanent sign in front of the school.

The Junior Civitan, affiliated with a local Civitan organization, endeavors to promote good citizenship in school and community life.

'61 Colts End Thir

The 1961 football season was an inspiring one for the Colts. Glencliff ended the year with a 9-2 record, playing almost perfect ball. The Colts completed their season by meeting Columbia in the annual Rebel Bowl game in Franklin, the third straight season's end bowl game for the team that has only been in the NIL three years.

The first game with M.B.A. ended in a score of 33-7 in favor of the Colts. Glencliff racked up 413 yards rushing to 59 for the Maroons. The offensive was led by Jerry Broadbent and scrappy Robert Verble, who was designated "Player of the Week." Outstanding in the line were Bubba Randolph, Bob Venable, Tommy Beckham, and Forrest Russell.

The following week Glencliff went to Franklin to play a highly rated Rebel team. The team won its second straight game by a score of 27-0. They were led by Verble and Broadbent, each scoring two touchdowns. Again the defense proved the difference, holding Franklin scoreless. Glencliff had 258 yards rushing, while Franklin had 130.

The next opponent on the schedule was West, a team which played a much better game than was expected. However, the Colts took the game 37-0. The highlight of the grid event was Jerry Broadbent's run up the middle of the line for a 99-yard run. Also the Colts completed their only pass of the game with a 43-yard scoring toss from Jimmy Haley to Jimmy Perry. The other scores were by William Tines, who scored twice, and Verble's one touchdown run.

The following week Glencliff gained revenge for their last year's loss by clipping Franklin County 19-7. Although the score was low, the team got 216 yards to the Rebel's 76. The team was in fine shape, playing one of their best games of the year. The Colts were led by the entire backfield and by Bubba Randolph, Tommy Beckham, and Forrest Russell in the line.

Following Franklin County was the Central Massacre. Glencliff crunched the Golden Tornadoes 61-0, playing the second and third team practically the entire game. Broadbent collected his second 99-yard touchdown of the year. Mike Bush got into the scoring column for the first time with two touchdowns. The team suffered its first casualties of the year with Jimmy Perry and Richard Sinner. Perry saw only limited action the rest of the year, while Sinner was lost for the season with a broken arm.

Next on the Colt schedule was Cohn, a game which they took 19-13. Cohn proved to be one of the loop's top teams. With Glencliff behind at the half 13-6, the outlook was bleak. However, the team came back the second half to hold the Black Knights scoreless and score two touchdowns themselves. William Tines was the rushing leader with 136 yards in 14 carries. Verble scored twice, and Tines once.

The seventh game was with Donelson, who invaded the Colt Stadium with the intention of beating Glencliff. They did, 14-13. Glencliff played a good game statistically, making 330 yards to Donelson's 151. The winning score came with 2 minutes left on the clock when John Steed of the Dons ran 70 yards on a pass reception. The heartbreaking loss knocked the Colts out of a first place in the Triple-A league.

In the East game Glencliff regained some of its lost form, beating the Eagles 25-0. They also gained revenge over the club that beat them last year to knock them out of the race. It was a one way game with Glencliff piling up 449 yards to East's 69. Verble and Broadbent led the way to the win. The scoring was by Broadbent, Verble, Tines, and Howard Reed.

Going to DuPont the next week, the Colt's beat the Bulldogs 13-7. DuPont led all the way until the final seconds, when Mike Bush scored on a 17 yard run. Prior to this game DuPont had won none and lost 8 games. They almost beat the sluggish Glencliff team for their first win of the season.

In the last game of the regular season the Colts, playing a fine game, beat North 47-14. The score was big, and the team won convincingly as the second and third teams played nearly the whole game.

In the post-season Rebel Bowl game the Colts lost to Columbia 21-19. However, they played probably their best game of the season, picking up more yardage, but less points, than the Lions. Glencliff led until the closing 12 seconds when Columbia scored. Touchdowns were scored by Verble and Jimmy Perry. The team ended the season with two boys, Broadbent and Randolph on the All-City team and Tommy Beckham and Bob Venable being named All-Triple A.

Improvement Marks Boys' Season

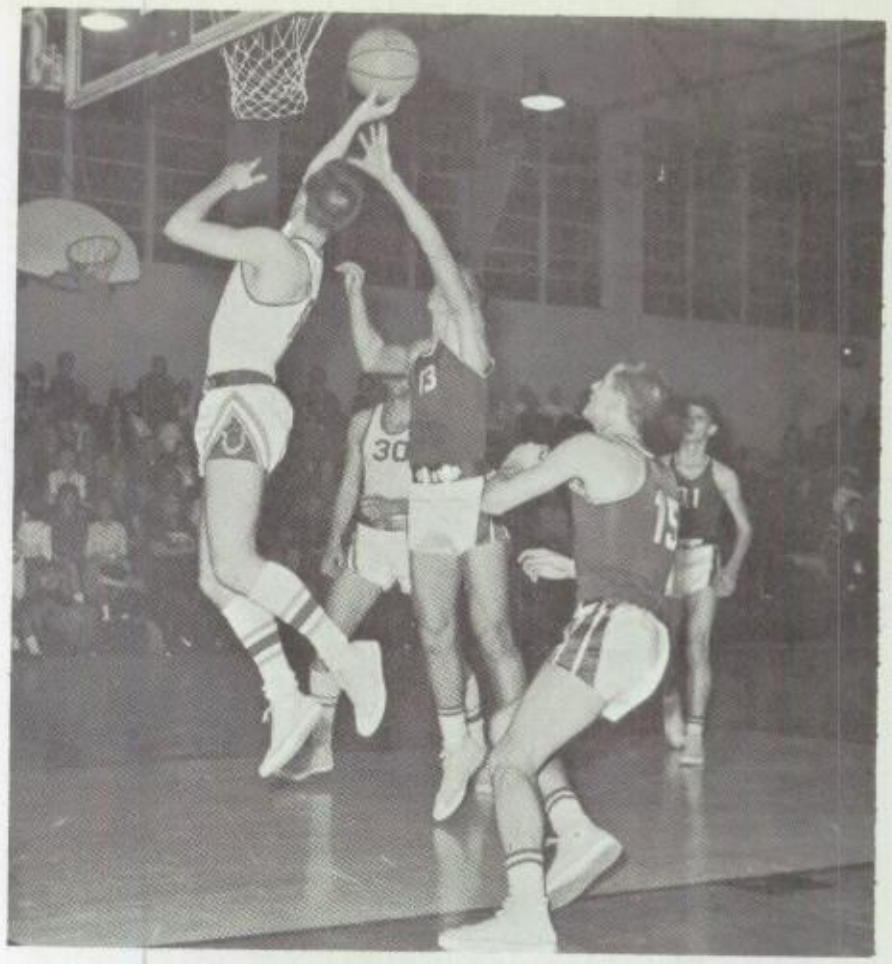
Boys' basketball improved steadily this winter as the Colts won 9 and lost 13. A strong finish accounted for 7 of the wins coming during the last half of the season. Completion of the season saw the Colts, under the direction of Coach Ken Redmond, drop Cumberland by a score of 57-43. Glencliff carried its winning streak into the 19th district tourney by dropping Central 39-36 before falling to Goodlettsville 44-38 in the quarter finals.

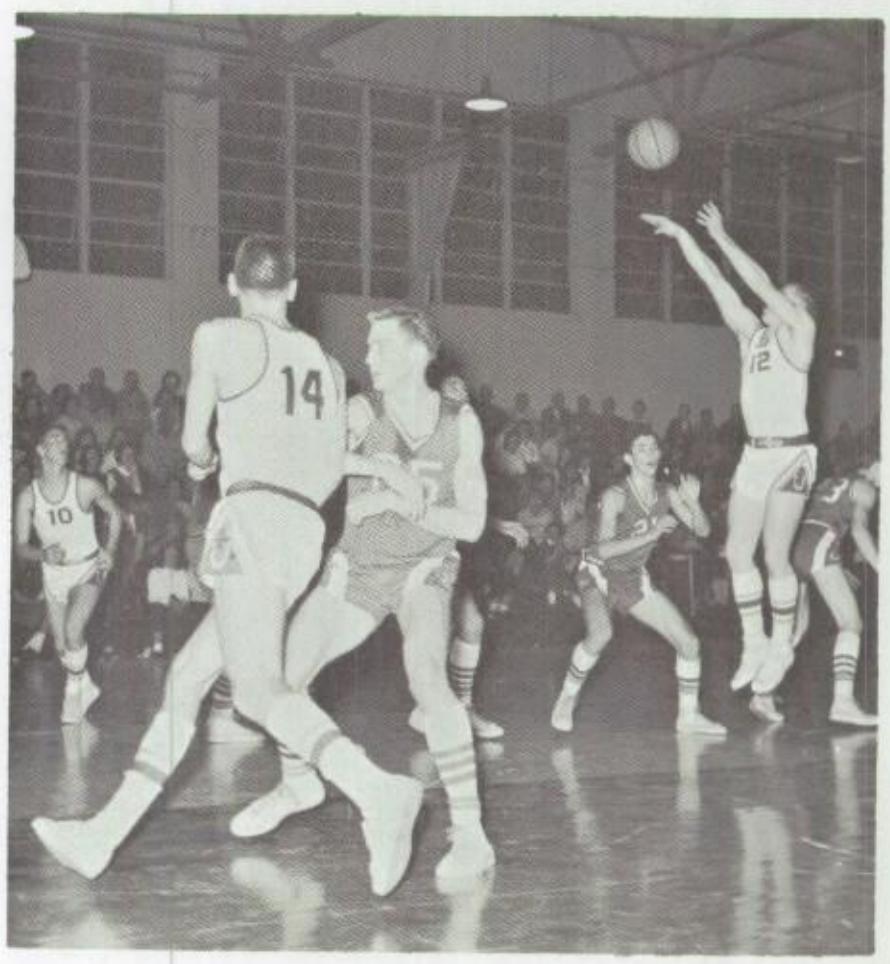
The win over Central in the district avenged an earlier loss to the Tornadoes and created quite a stir among the students. However, Goodlettsville derailed the Colts Region V Express with some clutch shooting in one of the most thrilling games in Colt annals.

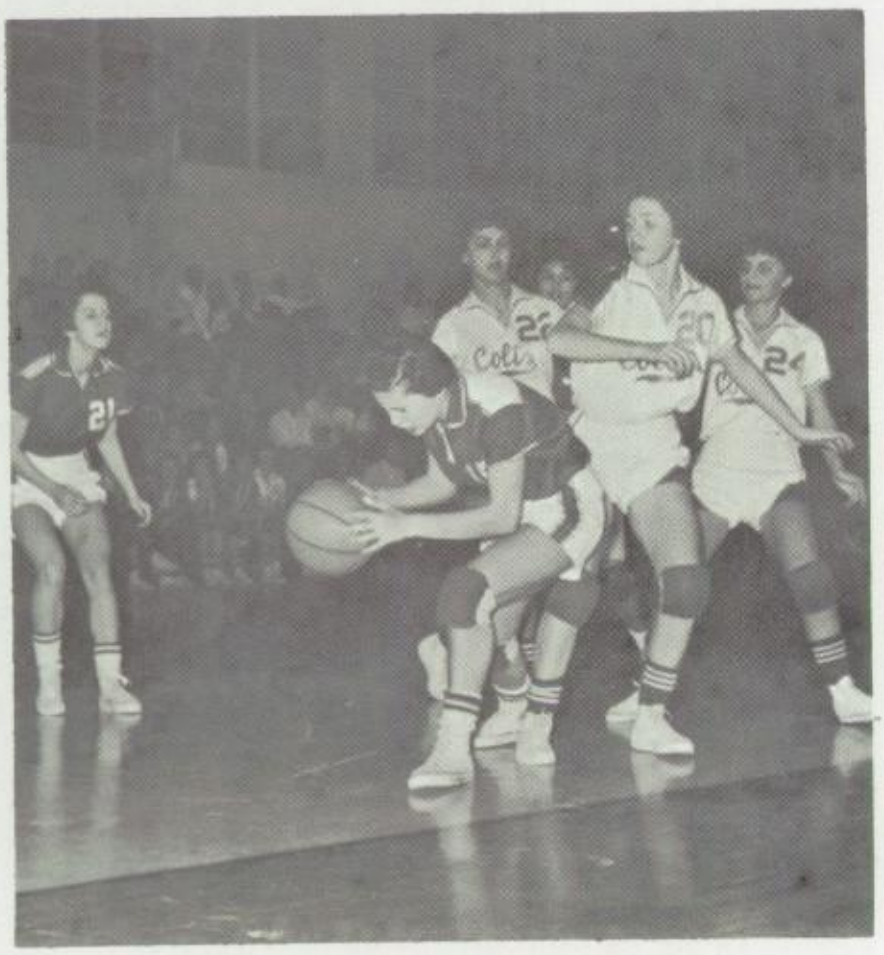
The 1962 Colts proved to be an interesting group to watch. The team scoring increased considerably in the latter stages of the schedule and helped to create a lively following.

Phillip Huddleston captured the individual scoring honors with 230 points. Bubba Randolph finished second, scoring 222 points. Jimmy Reed led in the rebounding department with 203.

1963 promised to be an even brighter year for the Colts as only Jerry Broadbent, Bubba Randolph, and William Tines graduate. Leading scorer Phillip Huddleston and top rebounder Jimmy Reed are expected to again spark the Colts. The Colts will also rely on the clutch shooting of juniors Ronnie Polk and David Morgan, who have been a suitable scoring team for Coach Redmond's cagers this year. Glencliff is still looking to make its mark on N.I.L. basketball and next year should prove to be bigger and better than ever before.







Girls Have Rugged Schedule

The 1962 Coltettes' season, although filled with thrills and heartaches, was chiefly marked by steady improvement on the basketball court. The girls played through a rugged schedule that featured such top-ranked teams as Overton, DuPont, Hillsboro, Maplewood, and unbeaten Bellevue, to finish with a 6-11 record.

Inconsistent play hindered the girls throughout the year as they fell victim to hot-and-cold streaks. A number of the games were touch-and-go and supplied the followers with many interesting moments. During a seven day stretch, the Coltettes stopped Central 41-40 and then fell to Antioch 31-29, and Hillwood 36-34, none of the games being decided until the final buzzer.

Improvement was evident by the fact that four of the last eight regularly scheduled games resulted in wins by the Glencliff girls. However, they lost to one of Nashville's top teams, Madison, 50-32 in the first round of the 19th District Tournament.

The Coltettes provided their followers plenty of entertainment with their all-out hustling and spirit on the court. Familiar scenes were those of Sandra Mayo and Pat Kelley scrambling on the floor for a loose ball, and Rose Trimble and Carolyn Cantrell pushing and shoving for those all-important rebounds. Scoring honors were taken by Starlene Pigue and Olivia Waller as the offense set new school records. Starlene finished with 351 points and a 19.5 average to finish eleventh in the NIL, while Olivia compiled 219 points for a 12.2 average.

The future looks rosy, as Miss Patterson loses only Olivia via graduation, and several fine sophomores and freshmen are coming up.
